

WHY WE STRIKE

Striking creates a balance of power that obliges governments to listen to us. Striking is disruptive, and, therefore, cannot be ignored. If these tactics seem concerning to a student, just imagine how concerning they are to a government.

Our governments simply cannot allow the education system to shutdown for a determined amount of time. Thus, they must listen to the demands of the movement at the origin of the strike.

